

I recently viewed the broadcasted hearing relating to the vote that took place on Monday that slacked the rules regulating media ownership compliments of the FCC. Chairman Powell was notified that it would be a good idea to have available on the FCC website a listing of who owns who in the media. Currently the FCC website has no such information.... (Intentionally in my opinion). I feel that the public would be greatly benefited by having access to such knowledge and have included here a listing of information resources both for the FCC to use in their creation of such pages on their site, and for you, the viewer of this post. May the rights of the people supersede the greed of the corporations!

<http://www.reclaimdemocracy.org/>
<http://www.commercialalert.org/>
<http://www.bsr.org/>
<http://www.badcorp.com>
<http://www.cjr.org/owners/>
<http://www.thenation.com/special/bigten.html>
<http://www.takebackthemedias.com/owners.html>
<http://www.moveon.org/moveonbulletin/bulletin7.html>
<http://www.fair.org/media-woes/corporate.html>
<http://www.alternet.org/story.html?StoryID=14787>
<http://www.corporations.org/media/>

International:

<http://www.malaysia.net/aliran/monthly/2001/8d.html>
<http://post.economics.harvard.edu/hier/2001papers/HIER1919.pdf>
<http://www.aba.gov.au/ownership/>
<http://www.wacc.org.uk/publications/md/md1998-4/contents.html>